- Description: This course is part of the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission Advanced Training Program. It is one of a series on non-sequential general or specialized career skills training programs. This course was designed to give the patrol officer and investigator with limited experience in injury and death investigations a general insight into investigative, legal, and evidentiary compounds. Eight hours of elective topics have been provided in this course to allow for variations of interest and needs. It is requested that the use of the alternative elective topic areas be responsive to local needs.

This course qualifies for salary incentive or mandatory retraining.
