

Are you planning to cancel a class because of an important meeting? Crisis at home? Conference or other business?

Please consider letting your Career Development Services or Internship coordinators come teach your class for you.

If you are unable to teach class on a given day for any reason, give us a chance to use that time! We would be happy to come to your classroom and provide presentations on a variety of topics related to career exploration and readiness.

Topics include career exploration, resume construction, polishing your professional image, developing a 60 second “elevator” introduction, interviewing, and other general or discipline-specific career topics.
