Breakout Sessions

iBooks Author - LAC1133

Presenter: David Lockwood, Apple Representative

Introducing an entirely new kind of textbook that's dynamic, current, engrossing, and truly interactive. We will demonstrate how to create a rich, multi-touch iBook and discuss what content formats can be used for your iBook.

Digital Storytelling - LAC1243

Presenter: Nathan Neuman

Description: Digital stories are multimedia movies that combine photographs, video, animation, sound, music, text, and often a narrative voice. Digital stories may be used as an expressive medium within the classroom to integrate subject matter.

Video Projects - LLC2269

Presenter: Todd Thuma

Description: This presentation will explore the breadth of video projects that can be completed inside or outside of the TLIC. From software based video creation, such as Tegrity, to high end video production using professional equipment, nearly any idea you have for video can be completed. The presentation will illustrate projects that have been completed through the TLIC as well as present ideas that can be completed. Participants will receive materials to support planning their next video project as well as how the TLIC and staff can support them.

Breakout Sessions

Rubrics Cubed - TLIC (Modular 2)

Presenter: Tiffany Messerschmidt and Nathan Neuman

Attend this session to learn how to design rubrics applicable to your content area. We will preview different types of rubrics and move through the technical process of creating and linking rubrics to assignments in PAL.

Assessment Tools in PAL - WCL111

Presenter: Todd Thuma

Did you know the PAL Quiz Tool is actually three tools in one? The Quiz Tool is for grading while the Self-Assessment tool can use the same questions from the Question Library to help students assess their understanding without the penalty of a grade. The Survey tool is way to get feedback from your students anonymously or by identifying them and then potentially sharing the results with the class. This presentation will illustrate how to develop question libraries for use as Surveys, Self-Assessments, or Quizzes and how to use a new tool available in the TLIC; Respondus.

Intelligent Agents & Checklists - WCL112

Presenter: Beverly Woolery

Intelligent agents send an automated personal email when instructor defined criteria are met. It can be used to both recognize student achievement met or warn of potential problems. Set it up and sit back and relax. The checklist tool is a visual guide that allows you to create a list of tasks for students to accomplish during a week or semester. Your students can then check off each task as it is completed. The checklist results will appear in the "User Progress" section of PAL for student accountability.

Breakout Sessions

Why Can't I Just Google it? - WCL112

Presenter: Kristen Jernigan

Sometimes it's hard to get students to see past Google for their research needs. We'll talk about library tools and resources the participants may not know about, as well as covering innovative ways of using our existing services.

Tegrity - WCL111

Presenter: Todd Thuma

This session will update experienced users as well as inform new users about how to use Tegrity. The presentation will demonstrate linking from PAL to Tegrity and placing videos in Tegrity inside your PAL course. Important changes for the fall semester will be discussed and presented. Participants will receive handouts and tutorials to support their use of Tegrity.

Untangled: Web 2.0 Basics - TLIC

Presenter: Courtlann Thomas

This session will present an introduction to Web 2.0 concepts and explore some of the most educationally sound tools that exist today. Discussion will include blogs, social networks, photo sharing, wikis, and Google apps. At the conclusion of the workshop, participants will identify similarities and differences between Web 2.0 tools, provide at least one example of how each tool can be useful in teaching and learning, and select at least one tool for use as a resource or collaboration in their group action research project.
