We are unable to continue processing your 2014-2015 application for financial aid, because it contains incomplete or conflicting information. We need clarification about who your responsible parent is and the parent’s marital status as of the date you and your parent signed the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). This date can be found on your FAFSA. The date you signed the FAFSA was: ____/____/_____

Federal guidelines for determining which parent is your responsible parent are as follows:

- Your responsible parent is the parent with whom you live the most during the 12 months before your financial aid application was signed. If you did not live with either parent, or if you lived with each parent and equal number of days (including zero days), your responsible parent is the parent who provided you the most support in the most recent 12-month period. Support means gifts, loans, housing, food, clothing, car, money, medical and dental care, payment of college costs, etc.

According to the above definitions, as of the date my original 2014-15 FAFSA was signed, my responsible parent was:

☐ Parent 1: ____________________________________

☐ Parent 2: ____________________________________

The marital status of the responsible parent listed above as of the FAFSA signature date above was:

☐ Married, Remarried    ☐ Never Married    ☐ Divorced, Separated
☐ Widowed    ☐ Unmarried, parents living together

Month & Year parent(s) married, remarried, separated, divorced, or became widowed: ____/_____
If you checked divorced or separated, please provide proof. Proof of separation can be a detailed statement from your attorney; or separate monthly utility or telephone bills for the responsible parent and the separated spouse. Proof of divorce can be a photocopy of the finalized divorce decree. Or any other form of documentation supporting your status.

All information provided on this form is turn and complete to the best of my knowledge.
