

Campus Opinion

Written by: Trevor Hughes

College vs. High School Lunch

Pictures by: Danny Mayorga

Polk Collegiate has students from many different high schools and all these high schools have varying lunch offerings. Despite that, students here told us that they prefer PSC's lunch, no matter what their previous school was.

We also asked students, "What is your favorite food from the college's lunch menu and why?" The most popular answer was the French-fries the café sells.

CHS student

Carley Oderkirk

offered, "The seasoning on them it makes the fries taste great." Other students answered differently. Dylan Stump proclaimed, "Oh! I really like the cheeseburgers here because of how juicy they are." Reagan Caron asserted, "I like the vegetable Panini they served for lunch because it just tasted really, really good."

(Above) PSC lunch room where students are waiting in anticipation as the staff cook their food for them. (Left) Collegiate High School's favorite food from the lunch room, the fries.

It seems, the Polk State College's lunch staff is doing a really good job with feeding the students good tasting lunches and that the students are actually enjoying and eating their school lunches.